

Company News

---

RMS Merges with Video Surveillance Leader Avrio Group

RMS Technology Solutions, LLC a national leader in IP-surveillance solutions for the public safety market announced that it has merged with Avrio Group. The Easton, Maryland-based Avrio Group is a pure IP-surveillance solutions provider specializing in license plate recognition systems, gunshot detection, and video analytics.

The RMS and Avrio merger enables the combined entities to further develop high-end video surveillance solutions to meet the growing demand in both the public and private sectors domestically and abroad.

“Avrio’s successful, high-profile technology deployments are evidence of their leadership in the industry,” comments Rick Rubenstein, President of RMS. “We are pleased to combine our mutual talents to offer best-in-class IP-based surveillance solutions to an expanding market.”

“We are pleased to combine our mutual talents to offer best-in-class IP-based surveillance solutions to an expanding market.”

—Rick Rubenstein, RMS President

Avrio’s impressive portfolio includes the City of Denver, in which surveillance systems were deployed to protect the Democratic National Convention; the City of St. Paul to protect the Republican National Convention; the City of Phoenix to protect the Super Bowl XLIII; Department of Homeland Security and Customs and Border Patrol to protect the northern and southern U.S. borders. In addition, Avrio worked with Federal Protective Services to protect the 2009 Presidential Inauguration.

Mark Jules, President of Business Development at Avrio stated, “We are very excited to work with RMS and their partners to extend Avrio’s global reach and renew our mutual commitment to provide new and existing customers with outstanding value and exceptional service.”

“We are very excited to work with RMS and their partners to extend Avrio’s global reach and renew our mutual commitment to provide...outstanding value and exceptional service.”

—Mark Jules, Avrio President of Business Development

Avrio’s current product offerings and services includes network video recording and playback, content analysis and video intelligence, systems integration, wireless and mobile surveillance. Avrio and RMS are well positioned to become market leaders in wireless turnkey tactical and permanent video surveillance solutions for municipalities and private enterprises.